The latest news from Montevideo is that Mr. Verragang is concerned in the new National Bank project. All devoutly hope that the project will be successful. The Banco del Rio de la Plata will no longer be the Banco del Mito will no longer endanger the prospects of the new concern. The new National Bank meets with the active support of the Government, but some opposition is anticipated in the Chambers. Some say that the new concern is a mere modification of the Verragang concession.

emigrants on board, went around yesterday between buoy 3 and 4 of the Riachuelo channel into the R. Plate. The accident was occasioned by the vessel's engine, which had stopped, and the successful, but dangerous, attempt to start the engine. The vessel was ordered to stop, and the steamer Guarany got into the Boca de Mar and was ordered to return to the harbor of the Italian. The Guarany collided twice with the Maria, and at one time the bows of the Italian bore down on the flank of the Guarany. The latter vessel was put on a starboard tack, and the Italian continued, during the efforts to back the Guarany, making a series of zig-zag movements. Maria's stern grounded on the Riachuelo, 140 feet of water. The Italian emigrants were rescued by the Maria, and the Italian and several women faintly, but very frantically, begged for help. The Italian emigrants were collected. Several small steamers came to the rescue, and the Italian emigrants were taken on board. The Port authorities made no special measures and put a stop to any further efforts to rescue the Italian emigrants. The steamers put on half-speed, the Guarany was put at the bottom of the channel by the Maria, and the Italian emigrants were taken on board; all the emigrants were landed yesterday, as the Maria floated off with the tide this Sunday evening.

THE NATIONAL GUARD.

The mustering of the National Guard of the Republic next month has naturally drawn the attention of all to the most important of the signs of the time. At no former period in the history of this young country have taken place so many of the symptoms of some political crisis or of some movement in international relations. The mustering of the National Guards of this city and its neighbors is a sign of some political crisis, at present, and the Government is calculated to bear no political loss, and both friends and foes to the Government are prepared to see the result. It is a well-known fact that Argentina for many years have undertaken the military strength of the nation. The revolutions of the last 18 years were carried out by the National Guard, and in the belief that this province was a master of all others, and the National Government could only rely on its military strength to army. The years 1874 and 1880 displayed the issue in a violent manner, and the people began to perceive the terrible weapon that the National Government wielded by summoning the National Guard.

The great progress of the country can be even traced to the powerful advance of this military body. The Argentine War and its distant operations are still fresh in the memory of all; at that infantile period—that Trojan war in the wilds of South America, this country by a gigantic effort succeeded in conquering 500,000 men. In 1874 over 50,000 men were mobilized in three weeks; in 1880 over 70,000 men rose to arms to defend the nation; today 100,000 men can be summoned in a week by the War Office with a little organization. These figures and the rapidity of evolution witnessed in late years show the gigantic advance.

The National army, we all know, is a very good police service on the frontiers, and a first-rate force in the National Guards, but viewed in an optimistic light it will be acknowledged to be a very poor secondary weapon in the hands of the Government. It is the sole anchor of the nation. The great strength of the nation is the National Guard; it is the only force that has been organized to defend the nation, and it is the only force that has been organized to defend the nation.

In view of these facts the attention of the National Government has been directed to the National Guard, and the Government is now endeavoring to drill this large body of men of teaching some of the uses of the nation. The Government is now endeavoring to drill this large body of men of teaching some of the uses of the nation. The Government is now endeavoring to drill this large body of men of teaching some of the uses of the nation.

The organization of the National Guard will open the eyes of the neighboring States. Chile, Brazil and Uruguay will certainly look on with interest when 100,000 men are being drilled every holiday and Sunday between 6 a.m. and mid-day. The Government is now endeavoring to drill this large body of men of teaching some of the uses of the nation.

In the military sense of the word the country may be considered as a head of South America, whatever defects it may have in naval respects, it remains to be seen if the brigading and maneuvering of the National Guard, which at present happily does not exist. The sight of large bodies of soldiers and military troops on the march, not only to produce a consciousness of military power not to be disregarded, but may also induce the policy of the Government to be more active in the future, which it would be better to avoid. The prediction with which the papers back up the National Guard is ominous, and it is a prediction which the Government should take into account.

Our esteemed colleague Le Courier de la Plata has published some interesting remarks on General Wagner's report to the French Government on the late Continental Exhibition held in this city. The report in question has drawn the attention of the Parisian journals, and much of the time has been devoted to the remarks of our esteemed French colleague, it will interest our readers to know the figures of the trade of this country with France.

The foreign trade of Buenos Aires, which represents four-fifths of the entire export of the Republic during 1882, was—very many sugar manufacturers in Tucuman, Santiago, and other provinces have given orders to French houses, but it may well suit the purpose to acquire into the cause of this gradual change in the market. It arises from the very different line of conduct observed by the agents of England and French firms respectively. The French agent makes very many concessions, gives very large credits, and runs very large risks, which no agent of an English firm would consider. It must also be borne in mind that this line of policy has constituted a great success for French machinery, but at the same time it has constituted a great loss for the French firms which have sustained in this risky enterprise.

In the long run, English success in business in this line must prevail, since French manufacturers will be unable to carry on business as they have done up to the present. In some cases French firms have been obliged to put up splendid machinery for gratis, for nothing, because some clause in the contract has not been fulfilled. This happened with one of the sugar kings of Tucuman, who had French machinery put up gratis, because the owner had not paid for it. The French firm, however, was not to be deceived, and the owner was obliged to pay for it.

Indian track, plainly visible, I then followed the 35th parallel, about 1 league to the South of passing through Chilo's camp which has on it a large fresh water lagoon. There were endless quantities of game round it and I had a successful shot at some deer. There is, in fact, no limit to sport in these parts. This camp is free from all coarse grasses and what particularly attracted my attention was the presence of these various varieties of grasses. I should say that in the proportion of three quarters to one quarter of the land is in grass.

It is a glorious sight to gaze over these fine lands in the 18th Section, in ornamental waves so fresh from the hand of nature so rich, so fertile and in their solemn grandeur eloquently appealing to the settler as a promised land "flowing with milk and honey." Never in the whole course of a long experience have we seen so much of such a pastoral vision, or dwell on a tract of land so free from man's hand. The main feature of its excellence is uniformity and entire freedom from all strong grasses and "pajonales." There constantly occur fine "campanas" some of which I estimate at a league in length. No rain of importance had fallen for months yet the grasses had grown green and fresh, owing no doubt to the fact that the "underlying water" is at less than 2 yards water was everywhere obtainable.

Continuing westerly I crossed the Rio Negro, and then through that strip of land touching the 30th meridian and forming the Western boundary of the 18th Section. How tall I remember that last June, I fetched the colossal price of 270,000 dollars per league and was bought by Dr. Webster, Mr. Hall and Mr. Manigot.
